A man saunters down the hall to the cafeteria, his red flannel shirt matching his rosy, smiling face. With one hand he feathers his hair while the other clutches his ever-so-precious coffee mug. He turns the corner and pulls up a stool to chat with Becky.

The yearbook would like to dedicate the yearbook to this special man, to Robert Sanborn. As a friend and photography teacher he has captured the essence of what a Lick individual is. He is dedicated to his work, thoughtful about the wellbeing of others, and generous with whatever he has to offer. His presence at Lick has brightened the halls of our school with his soft laugh and genial spirit. He has always been there for his students, whether it be to critic a "photiograph" or to simply talk. His patience with us has never died, especially with the yearbook staff, which is forever borrowing his photos. Without your help, this yearbook just would not have been the same.

BOB SANBORN

Thank you, Mr. Sanborn, for everything you have done for us all, and thank you in advance for the continued good will you will bring us in the future.

Robert Sanborn. Lick-Wilmerding Tiger, 1970

Lick would not be the same if it weren't for the Class of 1997! In addition to having laid claim to the notable academic, artistic, and athletic achievements, you will also be remembered as the class which bridged Lick's first and second centuries.

You arrived when our Centennial Year was well in the future - halfway through your Lick tenure, in fact! And, the new library and arts/ humanities building had yet to hit the drawing boards! Now that your graduation day is upon us we are completing Lick's 101st year, and you have enjoyed a semester of life in the McCullough Library and the Herbst Arts and Humanities Center, Suffice to say: you have witnessed, endured, celebrated and generated a lot of change during your time on Ocean Avenue. What I will remember most about your class is the trust, the good will, the flexibility, the patience, the good humor and the enthusiasm which you brought to the many new initiatives which defined vour life at Lick. Thanks for all you have contributed. I wish you well on your life adventures!

Albert M. Adams, Ed.D. Headmaster

Welcome

"What school do you go to?" "Lick-Wilmerding"

"Lick what"

"I go to Lick-Wilmerding"

"What kind of name is that for a high school?"

Welcome to the Lick community, a place as unique as its name. This is a school embedded in unique standards. Where else can one find a school that is dedicated not only to academics, sports, and the performing acts, but to the mechanical arts as well? Whether constructing a table in Woodshop, taking apart a calculus word problem, or building and strengthening a friendship, we have the capability to do all of this and more. This is a milestone school year: built upon 100 years of excellence. Welcome to the beginning of our second centennial!

Learning about running is insightful to what you can really accomplish. You learn how to challenge yourself, how to deal with intimidation, how to understand those with whom you work, and most of all, you have fun. At the end of the long, sometimes tedious season, you can be proud of yourself for just hanging in there.

"I am the very model of a modern Major-General!"

The Pirates of The Spring 1996 show,

Pirates "The Penzance," brought together almost one hundred actors, singers, musicians, and technicians to produce Gilbert and Sullivan's classic musical. With lead roles by Eric Gerlach (Frederich), Kelsey Namara (Mabel), Sean Morris (The Major-General), Phil Gorman (The Pirate King), and Noah Miller (The Sergeant) and direction by visiting drama teacher Cliff Mayotte, the show played three sold-out performances in March.

And so another year has ended, a chapter on Lick life ready to be put in the record books. From Nelson and Dean dying their hair, to wandering-around-downtown-day, to the termination of the infamous water balloons, to the endless oceans of work, we have had quite an interesting year -- even more than our name,

Lick-Wilmerding, implies. But, hey, let's not stop there...

P.S. Thanks, Drew, for all your help.....Yearbook Staff
